

I know bacteria help make food, like cheese, and I definitely like food!

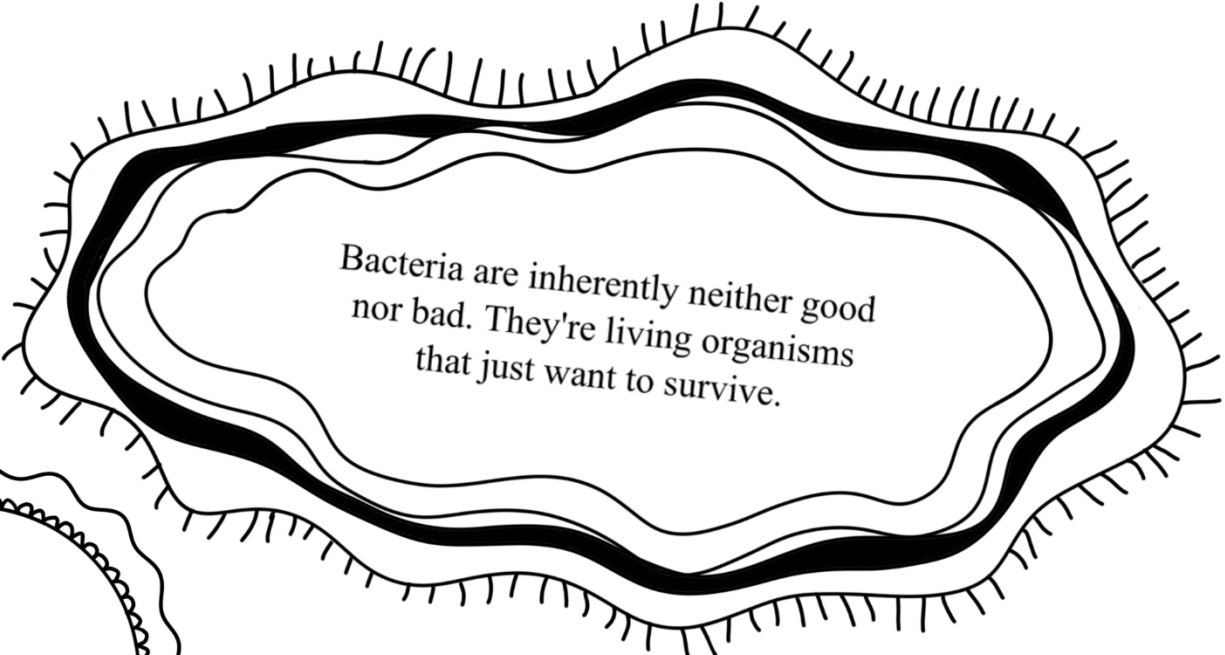

Bad, because bacteria can get you sick.

ARE BACTERIA GOOD OR BAD?

What do you think?

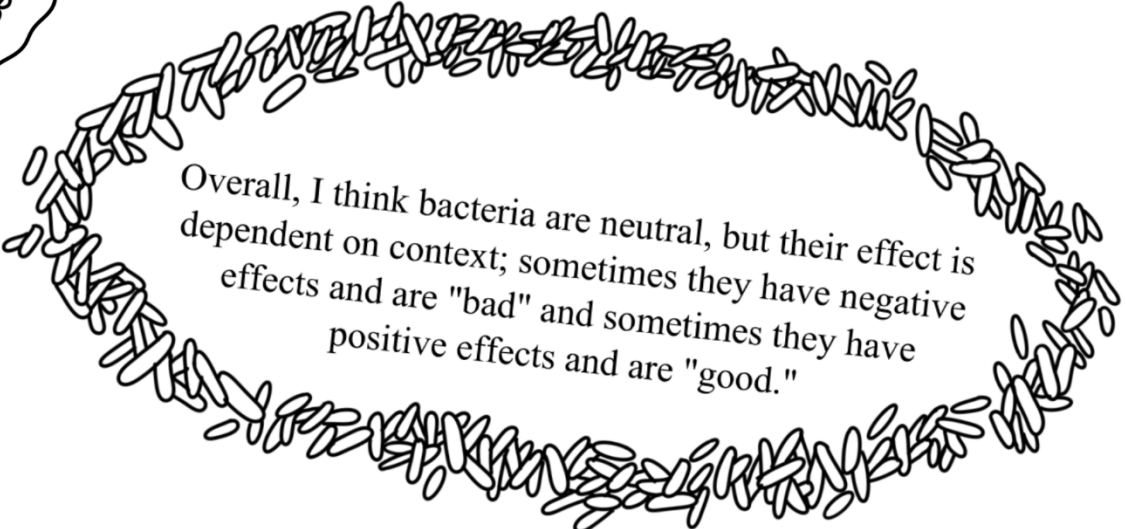

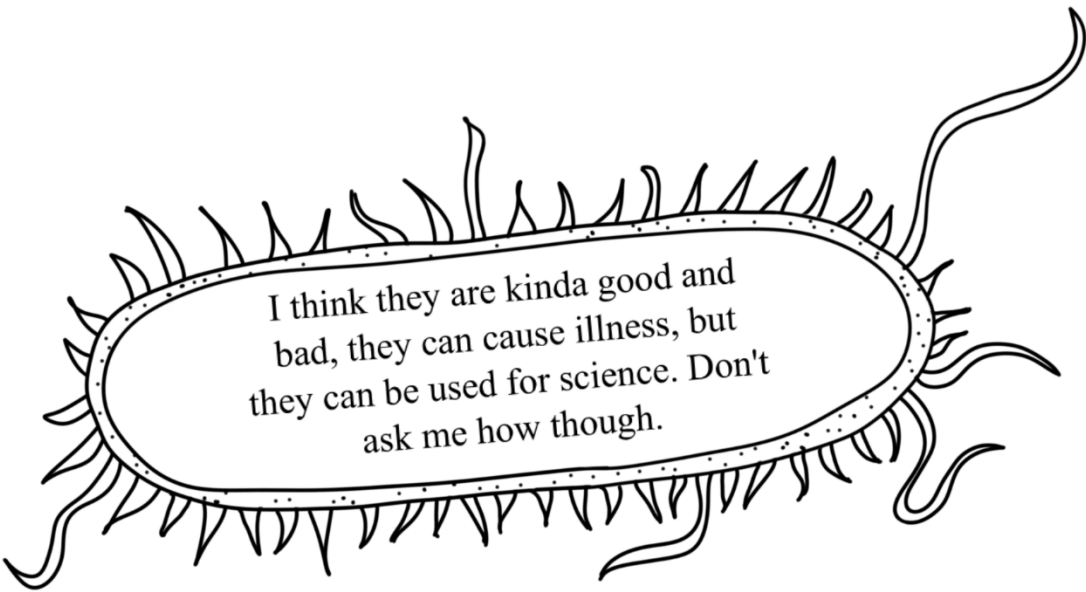

Bacteria are inherently neither good nor bad. They're living organisms that just want to survive.

Both

Overall, I think bacteria are neutral, but their effect is dependent on context; sometimes they have negative effects and are "bad" and sometimes they have positive effects and are "good."

I think they are kinda good and bad, they can cause illness, but they can be used for science. Don't ask me how though.

